Matt Eyles serves as Executive Vice President of Government & Business Strategy at Alignment Health, where he advises the CEO and executive leadership team on federal and state policy, regulatory strategy, enterprise growth initiatives, and engagement with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and key legislative stakeholders. In this role, he helps shape Alignment's strategic approach to public policy, government affairs, business development and quality initiatives that support the company's mission of improving healthcare for seniors.

Matt brings more than three decades of leadership experience across healthcare policy, Medicare Advantage, health insurance, pharmaceuticals, consulting, government affairs and regulatory strategy. Before joining Alignment in 2025, he served as President and Chief Executive Officer of America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP), the leading national trade association representing the U.S. health insurance industry. During his tenure, he led the organization's policy, advocacy, operational and strategic efforts on behalf of health plans serving millions of Americans and helped guide the industry through a period of significant transformation and growth.

Before becoming AHIP's CEO, Matt held several senior leadership positions within the organization, including Chief Operating Officer and Executive Vice President of Policy and Regulatory Affairs. Earlier in his career, he served in leadership roles at Avalere Health, Coventry Health Care, Wyeth and Eli Lilly. He began his career as a healthcare policy analyst at the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), evaluating the impact of federal healthcare legislation and regulatory policy.

In addition to his executive leadership responsibilities, Matt serves on the board of MedeAnalytics, a leading healthcare data and analytics company. Throughout his career, he has also served in leadership and advisory roles for numerous healthcare organizations and industry groups, including the National Health Council and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's Association Committee of 100.

Matt has been widely recognized for his influence and leadership across the healthcare industry. He was named to Modern Healthcare's "100 Most Influential People in Healthcare" for five consecutive years. He was also recognized among Washingtonian's 500 Most Influential People in Washington, D.C., in 2023; honored as a Top Lobbyist by The Hill in 2021, 2020 and 2019; and named a Healthcare Power Player by Business Insider in 2019. These distinctions reflect his significant impact on national healthcare policy, advocacy and industry leadership.

Matt earned a Master of Science in Public Policy from University of Rochester and a Bachelor of Arts in History and Political Science from The George Washington University.
